

Plan Your Visit to the Cheltenham Badlands
Opens for the season on April 19, 2019

What can visitors expect now that the Cheltenham Badlands are re-opening?

- The re-opening of the site is expected to draw a lot of public interest to one of the most recognizable and visited natural heritage landmarks in South Ontario.
- The public is encouraged to visit on weekdays and off-peak hours (early morning or late in the day) during seasonal hours of operations to avoid congestion and lineups.

What changes can I expect now that the site has re-opened?

- Visitors are not allowed on the Badlands landscape feature. Visitors must remain on the trails and viewing platform at all times to minimize human impact and accelerated erosion of the unique geological landscape.
- Visitors must use marked trails or use the sidewalk along Olde Base Line Road to access the site. Parking is only permitted in the parking lot. There is no vehicle stopping, standing or parking permitted along the road. The single-signed accessible parking space is for use by valid permit holders only.
- A parking fee is in place to support management, upkeep and preservation of the site. The parking fee is $6.50 per hour or $10 for two hours.

How can visitors access the Cheltenham Badlands?

- The public can visit the Cheltenham Badlands, located at 1739 Olde Base Line Road, Caledon, ON, during posted hours of operations.
- A 33-car pay-and-display parking lot is available for use at the property.

If the lot is full, is there parking nearby?

- The Cheltenham Badlands lot fills quickly during nice weather days, holidays and weekends. Visitors are encouraged to use the shuttle bus service available on select weekends at Terra Cotta Conservation Area at 14452 Winston Churchill Blvd., Terra Cotta, ON.
- Shuttle service is available on weekends and holidays until October 27, 2019.

- Shuttles run daily and leave from Terra Cotta Conservation Area starting at 10:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays (and holidays) until October 27, 2019. This service is complementary with admission fees to Terra Cotta Conservation Area. Please note: admission at the park may vary during special events.
- Vehicles are not permitted to stop, stand or park along Olde Base Line Road. There is an accessible parking space near the feature. This is for persons with a valid permit only. There will be active police and by-law enforcement around the site.
